DETAILED ACTION

This Office Action is responsive to the Amendment filed on August 17, 2007. The Applicant has amended claim 1. However, a new rejection is presented for the following reasons of record.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1-4, 6, 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Shiepe et al., U.S. Pat. No. 7,166,382 B2.

Rejection of claims 1-4, 6, 7 drawn to a process for generating power.

Shiepe et al., teach a process for generating power comprising: a first step of generating power from a fuel cell comprising a fuel electrode, an air electrode and an electrolyte membrane sandwiched therebetween (col. 3, lines 3-40; Fig. 2) wherein the fuel electrode is made of an alloy comprising platinum (col. 6, lines 9-17) and a fuel is a liquid comprising a secondary alcohol (col. 8, lines 42-45), by directly feeding the fuel to the fuel electrode; a second step of contacting the air electrode in the fuel cell with an oxidizable material and applying a current from an external electric source between the fuel electrode as negative and the air electrode as positive, after the first step; and a third step of generating power from the fuel cell after the second step (col. 3, lines 3-40; col. 4, lines 20-52). The process as claimed in claim 1, wherein the fuel electrode is made of an alloy of platinum and at least one metal selected from the group consisting of ruthenium, tin, tungsten, copper, gold manganese and, vanadium (col. 6, lines 9-17). The process as claimed in claim 1, wherein the fuel electrode is made of an alloy of platinum and at least one metal selected from the group consisting of ruthenium, tin and tungsten (col. 6, lines 9-17). The process as claimed in claim 1, wherein the fuel electrode is made of an alloy comprising platinum and ruthenium (col. 6, lines 9-17). The process as claimed in claim 1, wherein the oxidizable material is water or hydrogen (col. 4, lines 20-24; col. 6, lines 9-11). The process as claimed in claim 1, further comprising, a step of repeating the second step and the third step (col. 3, lines 3-40; col. 4, lines 20-52).

Thus, the claims are anticipated.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claim 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Shiepe et al., U.S. Pat. No. 7,166,382 B2.

Art Unit: 1795

Shiepe et al., teach a process as described above.

Shiepe et al., do not teach the atomic composition ratio of platinum to the other elements in the alloy.

However, the invention as a whole would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made because although Shiepe et al., do not teach the composition ratio of platinum to other elements in the alloy, because, "[W]here the general conditions of a claim are disclosed in the prior art, it is not inventive to discover the optimum or workable ranges by routine experimentation." In re Aller, 220 F.2d 454, 456, 105 USPQ 233, 235 (CCPA 1955).

Response to Arguments

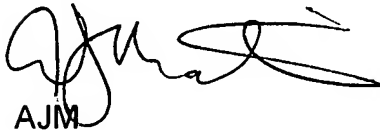

5. Applicant's arguments with respect to above claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
